November 16-19, 2016

New Orleans, LA

KOSCA

Founded in 2009, the Korean Society of Criminology in America (KOSCA) is a non-profit, academic organization which pursues scholarly research and professional activities in Korea-related criminology and criminal justice areas.

The main goal of the KOSCA is to bring together in one multi-disciplinary society of academics, researchers, policy makers, administrators, and practitioners who are actively engaged in Korea-related research, teaching, and practice. The mission of the KOSCA is to promote comparative research studies, publications, and professional activities in the field of Korea-related criminology and criminal justice. Membership is open to all ASC members.

KOSCA membership benefits include a subscription of The Korean Criminologist (newsletter) and participation in international symposia and other professional activities. For more detailed information, please visit our website (<http://www.kosca2009.org>).
